Next Monday evening there will be preaching at Skippan by Rev. G. W. Gramis.
Madison street is being extended up the hill, graded, planked and made ready for use.
Bartholomew Burk "paved up" yesterday on a homestead claim in section 10, T. 5 N., R. 10 W.
Recalled U. S. Restaurant auction sale to-day. Martin Olsen will be on hand at 10:30 to commence it.
Captain Crang, of the steamer Telephus, reports the fog very thick all the way down the river, making navigation somewhat perilous yesterday.
The Clatsop Mill Company has a very large quantity of logs at their mill, which have recently been brought to the mill and will make an immense amount of lumber when cut up.
The little son of Mr. Rieffel residing on Third street near West 8th street, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. He tripped on the stairway and fell, breaking one of his arms.
Owing to the absence of the pastor, the religious services at the Swedish Lutheran church which were to have taken place to-morrow have been postponed until Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.
Whoever can fish out of the river the body of a dead Chinaman named Gong Hop, who was drowned at Umatilla on the 15th of October, will receive a reward of $50 by delivering the body at Portland.
In consequence of a slight accident to the engine, necessitating some repairs, the West Shore mills have not been running for a day or two, but they are about ready to resume operations now and have plenty of orders to fill.
First street, in the vicinity of Polk and Jackson, is being filled up and raised to a higher grade, which will make it much better when completed, but at present it interferes with the passage of the street cars and passengers cannot ride the full length of the line.
Real estate transactions are rather quiet at present and sales are light. Wait until the commencement of work on a railroad and then sales will be lively enough. Some people, however, will wait too long before they buy, as the prices then will be very much higher.
Over on Young's river yesterday a stranger appeared at the home of C. N. Hesse. It is of the female persuasion, and not being able to speak the language of this or any other country, and being unable to walk, she will be kindly cared for and made one of the family.
Last night the opera house was crowded to witness the musical farce comedy of "The U. S. Mail," which was exceedingly funny and well received. It is not equal, however, to "The Soldier," "Bunch of Keys," and "Hole in the Ground," but has several new points and comical songs.
Through an inadvertence it was stated yesterday that the steamer Clara Parker has arrived down from Portland. H. B. Parker's new boat is still on the ways at Portland, but is expected down in a few days. She is being fitted for passenger service and the statement that she will be used on the night run between this city and Portland is said to be well founded.
The school directors of district No. 5, on Young's river, are somewhat perplexed. Twice this season have they employed capable and estimable lady teachers and in each instance have the teachers resigned their duties there to accept positions in the schools of Astoria. "Now," says Mr. Selby, of the board of directors of district No. 5, "we are thinking of resorting to a new scheme. That is, to advertise for bids from teachers to take our school, with the understanding that it is a sure stepping stone to promotion."
The boss elk story of the season comes from the top of Saddle mountain. Last Tuesday Frank Stoner, a brother of the engineer of Rescue engine, got a shot at what he says was the largest elk he ever saw, it weighing in the neighborhood of 1,000 pounds. He wounded the animal, and it plunged down the mountain side so rapidly that the hunter was unable to get a second shot. Stoner made up his mind that he had lost the game, and put in the day looking for another chance. This did not present itself, and he started home empty-handed. As he got within a few hundred yards of his home he stumbled over the body of the big elk. This is something novel in the way of hunting incidents, as it is not often that big game, after being shot, will deliver itself at the home of the huntsman.

THE SKIPPER WAS EXONERATED
The Case Against Captain Hall, of the "Noddleburn," Dismissed.
"BUNCO" DID ALL THE WORK.
The modus operandi employed in placing two greenhorns on board the British bark Noddleburn, was the subject of inquiry in Justice Cleveland's court again yesterday, when Captain Hall, master of the Noddleburn, was placed on examination for being an accessory of "Bunco" Kelly in shanghaiing or kidnapping the men in question. It took nearly as long to hear the captain's case as it did to hear the case of the two greenhorns, and the same crowd of curious idlers filled the court room and watched the proceedings with evident interest.
The shanghaiing men, Armstrong and Kelly, told the story, with a few slight variations, related by them the previous day, and when they had concluded it was a foregone conclusion that Captain Hall would be discharged, as the evidence showed that he was an innocent party in the transaction and relied on "Bunco" Kelly's "honesty".
The captain was a witness in his own behalf and related that he got most of the men himself, and did not call on the boarding master until after five of his men left him. Kelly put five men on board; but two of them got drunk and left the ship, and then Kelly brought the two men, Armstrong and Kelly, who caused all the trouble. "Bunco" told him they would take the place of the two who had left, and he supposed everything was all right and he didn't know that anything was wrong until after the ship arrived here.
It would have been impossible for him to have taken the men to sea without their consent, as the British vessel is a steamship, and he has to go on board and muster the crew before the vessel sails, and see that everything is all straight. "Should I take men to sea under the conditions alleged?" said the captain, "my certificate would be taken from me."
Justice Cleveland dismissed the charge against Captain Hall and this ended the second act in the "Bunco" Kelly case.
"BUNCO" KELLY AGAIN.
Taken to Portland on a Writ of Habeas Corpus.
The long looked for writ of habeas corpus in the case of "Bunco" Kelly reached this city yesterday morning, and was served on Sheriff Smith by Deputy United States Marshal, A. W. Miller. The writ is issued out of the United States district court at Portland, and the general impression is that under it "Bunco" will regain his liberty. The writ was issued on a petition that set forth that Kelly is illegally restrained of his liberty by Sheriff Smith. That officer left with Kelly last evening and will make return that he holds Kelly by virtue of a commitment out of the justice's court of this county. This will open the question of jurisdiction and whether Kelly was properly put on examination here will be decided.
Before leaving last evening, Kelly promised to make it exceedingly warm for some parties in this city when he gets out of his scrape.
H. E. McGinnis, of Portland, and C. J. Curtis of this city will resist the writ.
Passengers to Portland.
The following is the list of passengers having rooms who went up the river last night on the steamer R. R. Thompson.

BOUND FOR THE ORIENT.
The Bark "Coloma" Will Carry a Number of Passengers.
The American bark Coloma is due here from Portland to-day. In noting the departure of the Coloma from Portland the Oregonian of yesterday says:
"The handsome bark Coloma sailed for China a little before noon yesterday. She was delayed a day or two on account of a number of the Chinese passengers holding off in hope of securing a reduction in the price of tickets, but they failed and at the last moment a lot of them came tumbling on board."
The cabin passengers are Mrs. J. B. Thompson, of this city, and her mother, Mrs. A. Lines Van Blarcom, of San Francisco, who is going to the flower land for the benefit of her health, which is sadly impaired; Mrs. M. B. Drouillard, of Minneapolis, and her 8-year-old son, Robert Drouillard, and Mr. A. Edgar Beard, of the Oregon National Bank, who will make the voyage in search of rest and health.
Little Willie Wilson, the 16-year-old boy who was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary some time since for burglarizing a store at the corner of Front and Jefferson streets, is also aboard, being so disposed of by the Aid society, into whose hands he was given by the court. Willie was dressed in a new suit, and wept bitterly at the moment of starting. He will serve his term in the Chinese streets, and the Captain Noyes as cabin boy. "I'll never again get into trouble," said he, "and when I come back I'll be a man."
Several hundred persons lined the wharves to see the Coloma start, and a large number of friends of Captain Noyes and the passengers crowded on board and thronged the spacious cabin to bid them good-bye and wish them a pleasant voyage and safe return.
The Marine band came on board about 10:30 and played several pieces, and were entertained in the cabin by Captain Noyes.
"This," said Captain Noyes, "will be my twenty-second voyage to China. I made five trips on the Garibaldi, and it was during one of her voyages that my daughter, Miss Nellie, was born. She has made nine voyages with me, and I made six trips on the Alden Bessie. This trip will occupy about forty-five days with a stop of two or three days at Honolulu. Our return to this port will be about May, according to present calculations. We are already engaged for a full cargo for the home trip, and are now carrying 250,000 feet of lumber and 270 spars to Hong Kong in addition to the passengers."
The entire party of cabin passengers intend taking a trip to Japan, and will do a deal of running about. All of them will return with the Coloma, and anticipate a jolly good time.
As the lines were cast off and the Coloma was swung out from the wharf by the tug Madoc the band played "How Can I Leave Thee," and as she passed down the river three rousing cheers were sent after her, and she was saluted by whistles from all the steamboats, to which response was made by continuous dipping of her ensign. Among those on the wharf were several who have made the trip in the Coloma and who wished they were going again.
Elegant Pictures by Home Talent.
There was a fine display of art work yesterday afternoon in the parlors of Astoria Engine Company, No. 1, which was viewed by a large number of ladies. It was the work of a class of married ladies who have been taking lessons during the year of Miss A. J. Smith, and the excellent specimens exhibited by the ladies is a strong endorsement of the ability of the teacher. There were pictures in crayon, oil, water colors and pastel work. They were executed by Mesdames Wright, Edgar, C. W. Fulton, G. C. Fulton, H. F. Prael, F. L. Wadleigh, L. Fulton, F. H. Worsley, H. Christensen, H. G. Van Dusen, J. H. Butler, C. J. Trunchard, P. A. Stokes, F. W. Newell and W. L. Robb.
A fine large oil painting representing a scene off the coast of Maine has been painted by the class, elegantly framed and presented by the ladies to the engine company for the use of their parlors, and is highly appreciated by the firemen. It seems strange that no young ladies were inclined to take lessons and show what they could accomplish in the way of art work.

AN INCIDENT WITH A MORAL.
A nattily dressed man attired in the garb peculiar to English globe trotters, signed at the Occident hotel yesterday morning. He had considerable baggage and at once ingratiated himself into the good graces of several guests. In a confidential sort of a way he told that he represented a large wholesale house in London and that he was on his way home after having been nearly around the world selling goods to jobbers. He had some handsome silk shawls, samples, left on hand and would dispose of them at a sacrifice, would the gentlemen like to look at them? The gentlemen would and in a few moments the samples were brought forth. "These," said the stranger, "cost £10 in London and the duty paid on them in this country was fifty per cent, bringing the value up to $75 in American money."
The shawls caught the eye of one gentleman and as he wanted it to make a present of it to his wife, the stranger parted with it for twenty-five big silver dollars.
Another of those who saw the shawls became suspicious, and notified Collector Taylor at the customhouse. Mr. Byrie, of C. H. Cooper's and induced him to inspect the goods and see what they were. Mr. Byrie put on an innocent look and talked to the stranger in such a way as to lead the latter to believe that he had never seen a dry goods store and knew nothing about goods. To Mr. Byrie the tourist told his story as related and exhibited the shawls. After examining the material Mr. Byrie asked him how many he had disposed of and the stranger said several.
"There's lots of suckers in this town, sure," said the local dry goods man; "that stuff is not silk, but pure jute."
The London drummer gasped and said, "Why, you must be in the business."
"Yes, a little bit," rejoined Mr. Byrie, "and I can duplicate those shawls for $10 in this retail market."
The moral to this incident is, do not be deceived by traveling fakirs. They resort to all sorts of devices to lead people to think their wares are smuggled or secured in some underhand way, and that if they buy they are getting genuine bargains, when in reality they are buying an inferior article, and paying excessive prices for it.
Do your buying at home and help those who live among you.
The man whose name is R. Danco, was arrested by Chief of Police Barry last evening for peddling without a license. He pleaded ignorance of the law and on payment of $35 for a license was allowed to go.
More Kind Words and Truce.
Yesterday's Oregonian had another editorial in reference to a railroad on the bank of the Columbia, which is copied as follows:
"It is denied in many quarters that the Union Pacific intends to build a line down to Gray's bay on the north side of the Columbia. While it may build there if it chooses, it will deeply offend Oregon if it neglects the Oregon side, and building on the Washington side, yet builds no line to Astoria. The Union Pacific, as Oregon's direct transcontinental road, is looked upon by our people as the road on which they have a right to place great dependence for development of the state. It should put a line through to Astoria as quickly as possible, and if it sends a line down on the Washington side of the Columbia, without also building on the Oregon side to Astoria, the act and omission will be deeply resented by the whole people of our state. Oregon is naturally friendly to the Union Pacific, and it naturally thinks that the Union Pacific should use its power as far as practicable for support and development of Oregon."
A DOCTOR'S REBUKE.
Immensely More Mischief than is Generally Suspected.
Dr. King, the eminent medical writer, in a learned disquisition on our national complaint, constipation, says:
"The great quantity of cathartic pills, etc., which are taken by the people of this country are productive of immensely more mischief than is generally suspected. True, the physical effects of these pills, but their action tends to diminish the tone of the intestines; so that instead of removing costiveness, it aggravates it, leaving the bowels in a more torpid condition."
"Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla was designed to fill just such a contingency as the doctor's argument anticipates, viz: Instead of being a powerful mineral purgative, it is a mild vegetable laxative, that, owing to its salt content, gives the people a great relief in constipation that it has been given away to hundreds, not to be paid for unless it was of positive benefit. It replaces constipation almost immediately with a natural easy habit, and is so mild that, unlike drastic purgatives, it can be taken indefinitely with perfect safety."

SCROFULOUS SORES
From Head to Waist a mass of Disease. Suffering Terrible. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.
I was covered with scrofulous sores from my head to my waist, suffering so that I could not sleep nights, and could not move only with pillows under my arms. My head was so sore I could not see a hat; and being a farmer I could not go bareheaded, so wore a very soft handkerchief on my head. In fact, I was a disgusting sight to others and to myself. After doctoring for six years with all kinds of medicine, and getting worse all the time, I had given up all hope of getting well when I saw your CUTICURA remedies advertised and purchased a set, although with little faith in them. The first act, however, did me such good that I was forced to continue their use, and now, after using four sets, I am happy to say that I am cured. Any of the prominent business men and farmers in and around Plainfield will endorse my story.
